

Helicokinin receptor from insects

A b s t r a c t

The invention relates to polypeptides having the biological activity of a helicokinin receptor, and to polynucleotides which encode the polypeptides, and in particular to their use for finding active compounds for crop protection.